U.S. Chamber Statement on Proposed EPA Regulations on Existing Power Plants

WASHINGTON, D.C.—U.S. Chamber President and CEO Thomas J. Donohue issued the following statement regarding the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) regulations announced today on existing power plants:

“Today’s regulations issued by EPA add immense cost and regulatory burdens on America’s job creators. They will have a profound effect on the economy, on businesses, and on families. The Chamber will be actively participating in EPA’s input process on these regulations, and will be educating our members and affiliates about their impacts.”

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce is the world’s largest business federation representing the interests of more than 3 million businesses of all sizes, sectors, and regions, as well as state and local chambers and industry associations.
